WASHINGTON, August 2.—The War Department bill providing for a moderate system of universal military training as the settled military policy of the nation will be laid before Congress without further delay. Probably it will be in the hands of Senator Wadsworth and Representative Kahn, heads of the Military Committee, early next week.

Previous plans for extended conferences with Pershing and other overseas officers before presenting the bill have been abandoned. For that reason, however, it is understood that the committee chairman will be informed that while the project included in the proposed measure represents the best judgment of the War Department at this time it is to be looked upon as tentative in some respects and subject to possible modification in the light of the experience and judgment of these officers when their testimony shall be available. The department is understood to be not only willing, but anxious that the views of these officers should be heard, and Secretary Baker is expected to make this clear in his letter transmitting the bill.

Details Not Made Public.

Details of the department's bill have not been made public. There are indications, however, that it differs essentially in some ways from the Kahn-Chamberlain universal training bill, already before the committee.

In previous discussions of the subject, dating back to the preparation of hearings before the Senate Committee on the War, most army officers testified that training should be given in the nineteenth year. Secretary Baker expressed the same view, and it is thought probable the War Department plan will be found to call for the training of youths of that age instead of eighteen, as provided in the Kahn-Chamberlain measure.

Another point on which the department's bill is expected to differ from the Kahn-Chamberlain measure is the amount of training to be required. Throughout the extended study of the subject, in which various branches of the general staff have been engaged ever since hostilities ceased, it has been a difficult problem. Economic considerations, it has been felt, required that the time taken out of the life of soldiers or more boys a year would probably be too large for the military instruction under any fair plan of exemptions that could be adopted. It was fixed at the irreducible minimum of what military considerations required.

May Accept Short Term.

The Kahn-Chamberlain bill would provide six months' training. There is some reason to believe, however, that the War Department would be satisfied all things considered, with less than that, with half as much time devoted to intensive instruction.

The necessary result of limiting the training period to less than six months, some officers have said, would be to compel abandonment of all projects for a national or other reserve force. All that could be done would be to concentrate on purely military instruction of a nature that would not permit more than incidental physical development. Three months of intensive instruction, it was said, would only fit boys for ready assimilation of further training under active service conditions in case a war emergency called them out during their liability. It would not permit their training, however, to expand beyond the purely military lines.

TWO AMERICAN WOMEN DECORATED BY FRENCH

Misses Corn Van Norden and Gertrude Ely Receive Croix de Guerre.

COBLENZ, August 2.—Miss Corn Van Norden, of New York City, a Salvation Army worker with the First Division, and Miss Gertrude Ely, of Bryn Mawr, Pa., in charge of Y. M. C. A. activities with the Eighteenth Infantry, were decorated by the Croix de Guerre by General Andre, commander of a French Infantry division, on behalf of the French government. The ceremonies took place at Montauban, near the edge of the bridgehead, headquarters of the First Division.

General Andre also presented the Cross of a Chevalier of the Legion of Honor to Colonel William F. Harrel, of the Second Infantry, to Colonel A. Hunt, of the Eleventh Infantry, and to Sergeant Michael R. Ellis, of the Twenty-eighth Infantry.

After the presentations had been made, following the French custom, General Andre kissed the American officers on the cheek, but the general stepped in front of Miss Ely and Miss Van Norden, the officers appeared perplexed as to the proper procedure after a decoration had been presented to a woman.

Major-General F. MacLachlan, commander of the First Division, quickly went to his aid. Witnesses of the ceremony said General MacLachlan kissed the young women on both cheeks, after the French custom.

Miss Van Norden and Miss Ely are the first and only women officers in the First Division to receive the Croix de Guerre.

NAME RETURNED SOLDIER

Heads Republican Ticket for Congress in Kentucky District in Kentucky.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., August 2.—Governor James B. Black, of Kentucky, has defeated Judge John D. Carroll, of New York, for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in today's state-wide primary. Incomplete official returns show that Governor Black won by a narrow margin, while Judge Carroll, the Republican ticket, was unopposed in the Kentucky Congressional District.

King, sworn member of the Klan, was elected over Judge Charles A. Harding, from 1900 to 1904. It was the first time a Republican candidate ever was victorious in that district. Judge Harding was defeated by the death of Harvey Hines, who had held it many years.

BRIDGE IS WASHED AWAY

Reports From Sutherland Indicate Most of Crops Have Been Destroyed by Flood Waters.

DANVILLE, Va., August 2.—Telephone communication was re-established with Ringgold this morning and further reports of the damage by the clouds at Sutherland Thursday night were received. There has been no loss of life, and so far as known no stock perished. The corn and the tobacco on the lowlands have been completely washed away, and some farmers have been ruined. An hour after the rain began at Ringgold creeks not large enough to be bridged were raging rivers. The dam at Kern's mill, at Sutherland, has been completely destroyed, and the works cannot be operated until a new one is built.

The long wooden bridge between Ringgold and Rock Spring Church was washed bodily away and the debris is scattered over the lowlands, where water never rose before. Residents of Ringgold say that the storm was the worst remembered, and that large trees were splintered by lightning and some blown across the highways.

ASSAULTS RAILWAY MEN

Congressman Blanton Says It Is Time Congress Called a Halt to Continued Demands.

WASHINGTON, August 2.—Representative Blanton, Democrat of Texas, declared in a speech on the floor of the House today that the granting of the proposed $1,000,000 in wage increases for railway workers might solve the high cost of living problem for that class of citizens, but would leave the other people of the country in "one hell of a fix."

Mr. Blanton denounced the railway brotherhoods for threatening a strike unless the wage demands are granted. He said it is time "for the tail to quit wagging the dog, and for some action to be taken that will reduce the high cost of living for all the people."

"There must be a conclusive showdown," the Texas member declared, "and Congress must quit truckling and quit being held up by threats."

FORMER PRINCE PARTICULAR

Announces He Prefers to Select Court That Will Place Him on Trial.

BERLIN, August 2.—Former crown prince Rupprecht, of Bavaria, has written to the president of the Bavarian diet, saying he is unwilling to recognize a court of justice in which the prosecutor is also the judge.

"I will not under any circumstances," he said, "voluntarily attend a non-German court of state, but declare myself ready to go before a Bavarian court of state."
